

Portland Saturday Market Permanent Home Study

The Portland Saturday Market has been operating at its current location in Old Town / Chinatown under the West End of the Burnside Bridge for the last 30 years. The Market may need to relocate due to the possible redevelopment of the surface parking lots which currently house the Market. The Portland Development Commission (PDC) and Saturday Market are working together to select a permanent home for the Market and consider improved layouts and features that will better serve the Market in the future. There are multiple opportunities for public input during this process.
